

Shadows in my Mind

Dim candlelight flickers at my side
Darkness pushes sterile reality from sight
My mind drifts far away and dreams
Emotion laden illusions rampant in dark recesses
Reason given over as eyes close in surrender
My fevered mind clouded by restless passion
Embracing arms know no illusions
For a moment you're there, really there
Soft warm flesh pressing, 'seeking union
Fingers deft move quickly, unwrapping longing
Cascading waves of erotic anticipation
Sweet lips pressed to mine, burning
Exposed flesh quivering and demanding
Fevered kisses and silken caresses
Blood pounding in long loud silence
God of my passion demanding -- supplication
Kneeling in reverence, to kiss golden lips
Honey dripped Eros, well pleased
God accepts and engulfs in communion

Swallowed by Eros dark, warm and sweet

Flickering candle light at my side

Opened eyes seeking, find emptiness

Deep silent aching, crying for a part

Essence of my being misplaced somewhere

The other day very far from here.